Slip slide away time

Australia and New Zealand's 12 big ski resorts are all famous for something, writes Rachael Oakes-Ash

SKI RUN

When it comes to groomed runs, size matters.

Thredbo's (www.thredbo.com.au) 5.9km Supertrail wins for length alone. Get in early, because it can feel like Punt Rd come midday.

In a good season Mt Hutt (www.nzski.com) is tops. Turn right at the top of the six-seater Summit chair and have the ungroomed South Face all to yourself.

BEGINNERS' MOUNTAIN

Perisher Blue has 22 per cent of its 1245ha dedicated to beginner terrain.

There are 13 ski carpets and a Tom Thumb platter lift ensures beginners can get up the hill.

Falls Creek beginner area has six carpets including a 124m fully enclosed magic carpet.

Coronet Peak (www.nzski.com) in New Zealand has doubled its beginner ski area for 2007. Whakapapa at Mt Ruapehu has Happy Valley, a separate beginners-only ski area.

EXPERT TERRAIN

You need to be an expert to ski the 18 Motatupu Chutes at Treble Cone, where the pitch can be 50 degrees. It's a trek out from the bottom, if you make it. Take a transceiver and a buddy. This is the back country.

SNOWMAKING

Thredbo has spent $4.5 million on snowmaking gear in the past three years with 212 fully automated tower snowguns and 40 manual ones. Snowmaking covers 25 per cent of the resort's terrain.

Mt Buller (www.mtbuller.com.au) and Mt Hotham have gone green, using recycled water for snowmaking.

TERRAIN PARK

Falls Creek is consistently voted No.1 by Australian Snowboarder magazine for its Terrain Park facilities.

Think four terrain parks for varying abilities.

Across the Tasman, Cardrona wins with three terrain parks, four halfpipes and a Gravity Cross course.

And there's Snowpark, a dedicated freestyle terrain resort. Visit (www.snowparknz.com).

SKI IMPROVEMENT

The Alpine Ski Advancement

Highly popular: Bourke St run in Mt Buller village.

Program (ASAP) at Treble Cone (treblecone.co.nz) is an intensive program over five days with video analysis, dry-land training, off piste and race gates. The program, through August, costs $NZ2880.

The L'Oreal Women's Week at Mt Hotham (www.hotham.com.au) is five days with female instructors. July 23-27. It costs $799 including lift pass. Visit www.hotham.com.au

KIDS' PROGRAM

Freeriding teens can enrol in Falls Creek's Freeride Holiday Camp ([www.falls creek.com.au](http://www.falls creek.com.au)) for 8-17-year-olds and learn how to do rails, boxes and jumps. Running July 2-6 and July 9-13, it costs $299.

Cardrona's kids centre has it all with a purpose-built nursery, day-care centre and kids' club. (www.cardrona.com)

The four-day Skivee and Lowriders accelerated development program starts every Monday. Supervision, lessons, lunch, rental and lift cost $NZ520.

NON-SKI ACTIVITY

Falls Creek grooming tours run nightly through winter.

Hop into the huge Kassbohrer groomer's heated cabin for a first-hand look at how to fix the slopes. It costs $35 for a 50-minute tour.

Hotham runs sparkling sunset tours at 5pm each day. A heated-cabin cat machine takes groups of six to the mountain summit for champagne and nibbles. Adults $30, children $15.

GRUB

Inspire at The Spire in Queenstown (www.thespirehotels.com) is where you will find Rex Morgan's award-winning degustation cuisine.

For lunch, try Amisfield Winery in Queenstown for cellar-door prices, the chef's platter and kids' picnic lunches.

Michael Newby's restaurant at Summit Ridge at Falls Creek has local produce, chai roasted duck and high-country beef (www.summitridge.com.au).

Grimus at Mt Buller (www.pensiongrimus.com.au) is an Austrian institution complete with Hans Grimus and his accordion.

NIGHTLIFE

Queenstown has 120 licensed establishments in one square kilometre. (www.queenstown-nz.co.nz)

Start the night in the Martini Bar at the Crowne Plaza for lakeside views.

Hit Bermuda for outdoor fireside cocktails, then go to Bar Up, the Boiler Room or Bunker bar for some turntable tunes.

Finish up with a Fergburger hamburger in the wee hours.

VALUE

The club fields of New Zealand are a great way to get some terrific turns in for little financial outlay.

Six nights at Mt Olympus (www.mtolympus.co.nz) including accommodation, meals, lift passes and lessons is $NZ700 for non-members and $NZ350 for members. It costs $50 to become a member with an annual subscription of $50.

AND... SNOW

You can't rely on snow but you can go by snow-depth charts and average them out. Mt Ruapehu claims to have an average four metres each season and the Canterbury region of NZ has more than three metres, but it's irrelevant if the snow is simply ice.

Position is what counts. You want to be on east or southeast-facing slopes. They get the most snow.

North and east-facing slopes are prone to sun damage and south-facing slopes have the best snow quality.

So, if you can't heli to the good stuff in the Mt Cook region of NZ or trek to the back country of Kosciusko National Park, head to the far-west rolling lava slopes of Whakapapa on a bluebird day after a fresh snow storm.

But you can't rely on those days, either.

Kids' stuff: (above) they love making snowmen.

High jinks: (main picture) clowning about at Falls Creek.
